INFINIS WIN PRESTIGIOUS HEALTH & SAFETY AWARD

Infinis Ltd, the UK's largest purely renewable energy generator, is celebrating winning a prestigious RoSPA (Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents) Silver Occupational Health and Safety Award in 2008.

The RoSPA objective is to reduce the number of accidents and cases of ill-health at work and ensure organisations have good health and safety management in place. These awards are designed to highlight those companies which show commitment to protecting the health and well-being of employees and others, to encourage other businesses and organisations to strive for continuous improvements in health and safety management.

The award will be presented during a ceremony at the Birmingham National Exhibition Centre's Hilton Hotel on Tuesday 13 May 2008 alongside Safety & Health Expo 2008, the UK's premier health and safety at work exhibition.

Alan Lovell, Chief Executive of Infinis Limited, commented:

"We are delighted to have won this award in recognition of our excellent track record in health and safety. Our priority has always been to ensure the highest standards of safety and environmental protection are observed, in the interests of our staff and the local communities where we operate. Notes to Editors:

1. Infinis is already the largest purely renewable generator of energy in the UK. Infinis employs 250 people across more than 80 sites and produces 10% of the UK's purely renewable energy.

Infinis aims to become Europe's leading purely renewable energy generator, setting standards for operational excellence, innovation and quality. The company is growing both through organic development and through carefully focused acquisitions.

Infinis is well positioned to benefit from the rapid growth of the renewable energy market and is developing projects in other renewable energies, particularly biomass and wind generated energy supply. It has already lodged its first planning application for wind generation on its Greengairs site in Scotland.

2. The RoSPA (Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents) Occupational Health and Safety Awards 2008 are sponsored by NEBOSH (The National Examination Board in Occupational Safety and Health), the leading health and safety professional examining body.
