INFINIS APPOINTS CHAIRMAN AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Infinis Energy Holdings Limited and its operating subsidiaries (“Infinis”, which includes Infinis plc) announces the appointment of Eric Machiels as Chairman and Chief Executive with effect from 5 October 2010. Mr Machiels has been Infinis’ Acting Chief Executive since August 2009 and its Acting Chairman since June 2010.

Mike Kinski, Chairman of Infinis Capital Limited, Infinis’ holding company, said:

“Eric has shown strong leadership of the business and I am delighted that he has agreed to confirm his position as Chairman and Chief Executive of Infinis as it positions itself for its next stage of growth.”

Eric Machiels said:

“Infinis is ideally positioned to capture the growth opportunities in the UK renewables sector. It is a well-funded and rapidly growing operator with a clear strategy, an ability to react rapidly to developments in the market and is led by a proven management team.”

The Infinis group of companies is one of the UK’s largest generators of renewable power and is owned by Terra Firma. It delivers about 10% of the UK’s renewable power through its landfill gas (LFG), onshore wind farm and hydro generation activities and approximately 0.7% of the UK’s total electricity consumption. Its strong overall renewables market position is closely linked to its leadership position in the UK landfill gas-to-electricity market where it has a share of approximately 41%.

Infinis is headquartered in Northampton and currently employs approximately 370 people. It has a total of 137 generating sites across the UK (124 LFG sites, 3 onshore wind farms and 10 hydro sites).

Infinis has a total installed renewable generation capacity of 438 MW split between its LFG (346 MW), onshore wind (75 MW) and hydro (17 MW) operating plants. A pure business-to-business operator, it sells all its output to a handful of licensed off-takers. Infinis currently also has an onshore wind development pipeline of 88MW consented, 250MW at various stages of planning and development and 22MW under construction.
